

Keng Fu Chu is a contemporary multidisciplinary artist and designer based in the Washington, D.C. area and Taiwan. Bridging Eastern cultural roots, Japanese anime influences, and Western contemporary pop aesthetics, his practice spans monumental outdoor sculptures, art toys, and digital twin virtual environments. Drawing from world travels and personal recovery from physical adversity, Keng Fu transmutes life challenges into the Furobot universe—a visual narrative of resilience and quiet optimism.

His work has been showcased across major platforms, including the Sphere LED displays at Resorts World Las Vegas, Waldorf Astoria Orlando, and the 18th Independent Art Festival in Belgium and the Netherlands, as well as publications like Taschen's Illustration Now!. Parallel to his physical practice, Keng Fu's interactive digital projects have earned top international honors, including multiple FWA Site of the Day awards (2003, 2007, 2026), Awwwards recognitions, and a Webby Awards nomination.
